Wednesday Next the Day of All Days

Athletes From All Parts of Province Coming for Sports on 7th of August

Program Commences at 10 o'clock Sharp in the Morning—Norma Chiddy, of This City, Provincial Women's Champion, Will Appear in Several Events—Fifty Events on Program Including Tug-of-War, Baseball, Rolling Pin Contest, and Many Other Novelties

Wednesday next is the biggest day of the year, at least in an athletic sense, it being the occasion of the annual Provincial Track and Field Championships for junior boys and girls up to eighteen years of age and for women, the latter being an added feature, presented here for the first time, in which Miss Norma Chiddy, who won the women's all-round championship of the province at Banff last year, will make her debut as an athlete of renown, before her home town folks. Miss Chiddy will participate in eight events, which will prove her versatility as an athlete of the gentler sex.

The Provincial Championships held here last August were an unprecedented success, far beyond fondest anticipations, and the huge crowd were one hundred per cent delighted with the day's doings. This year the added events and large entry list from all parts of the province necessitate a full day's show, but there will be but one admission fee for the day. The morning events commence at 10 o'clock sharp and the afternoon at 1:15. Several centres in Alberta not represented last year, will have competitors here on this occasion. As an instance, five entries have already been received from Raymond, in Southern Alberta. Calgary and Edmonton have many athletes of both sexes ready for the fray, and Red Deer has a real "dark horse" who may prove a sensation. Kitscoty, Elnora and other rural communities are swelling the list of entries. Nearly three dozen are already in, with a week to go, and there will be at least fifty or sixty visiting athletes here, it is expected. For instance, by this morning's mail comes application from Ponoka for several entry blanks.

There wil be about fifty events on the program, including baseball, tug-of-war, rolling pin contest, nail driving, and various other novelty stunts. And the hunt for the Mysterious Mr. Raffles will create much interest. The horse shoe game will have its place and the refreshment booth will be well stocked.

Eight silver cups, seventy-two gold, silver and bronze medals, are but a portion of the magnificent array of prizes which will be on view in the windows of Chalmers' Hardware Store tomorrow and until Tuesday night. Included are eight beautiful prizes presented by Wetaskiwin Lodge No. 1559, Loyal Order of Moose, for the tug-of-war.

A banquet will be held at the Driard in the evening. Subsequently a dance will take place at the Elks Hall, the visiting athletes being guests of that organization on the occasion.

Local athletes who have not already made their entries for the championship events, should secure forms from B. W. Bellamy, at The Times office, before Saturday, when entries close.

FORTY MILLION DOLLARS PAID BY WHEAT POOL

Winnipeg, July 31.—Nearly forty millions of dollars is being distributed today as a second interim payment on wheat and coarse grains by the Canadian Wheat Pools. The basis of the wheat payment is 21½ cents per bushel No. 1 Northern, Fort William; 18 cents on No. 2; 17½ cents on No. 3; 22½ cents on No. 4; 16 cents on No. 5; 18 cents on No. 6, and 7½ cents on feed wheat. There is a wide range in the payments on other grades, varying from as high as 34 and 36 cents on some grades down to 2 cents on one small parcel.

Last year the pools adopted a new policy of adjusting all spreads and making all deductions for elevator and commercial reserve, carrying charges, etc., from the second interim payment and this course has been followed this year.

As a result, the final payment which will be made at the end of the crop year, will be a flat payment on all grades.

Kindly Old Lady: "Could you tell me my good man, whether this boat is going up or down?"

Rough Old Salt: "I dunno, mum; sometimes I think she's going up, fer her bilers ain't none too good; and other times I think she's going down 'cause her hull is leaky."

DISPLAY FLAGS AND BUNTING FOR MEET NEXT WEDNESDAY

Merchants and citizens are urged to get out their flags and bunting and profusely decorate their premises on the occasion of the big provincial athletic meet next Wednesday. Last year many of the visitors expressed surprise and pleasure at the welcome tendered them in this manner. Make the city gay in patriotic color. It helps convey a lasting impression on our many visitors from all parts of Alberta.

WEDDINGS

DUFVA—OSTLUND

A very quiet and pretty wedding took place on Wednesday at the home of the groom's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Emil T. Peterson of Malmo, when Gustaf Melvin Dufva of Waterglen, was united in marriage to Linnea Jean Ostlund, also of Waterglen. Rev. J. A. Wingblad was the officiating minister, and the ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. The bride was very charming in a gown of white georgette, and wore a veil of silk net. She carried a bouquet of carnations. She was attended by June Nyberg, while the groom was supported by Otto Alberf. After the ceremony a wedding reception was held at the home of the groom's mother. The happy couple were the recipients of numerous useful and beautiful gifts, and they will make their home on their farm in the Watergien district.

JOHNSTON—TAYLOR

At a quiet wedding in Immanuel Church, Wetaskiwin, on July 24th, Stella Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Taylor, Lacombe, was united in marriage to Richard Carmi Johnston of Ponoka. Rev. P. C. Wade performed the ceremony. The following day Mr. and Mrs. Johnston returned to Ponoka where they will reside.

WEST WANTS NO EAST HARVEST MEN THIS YEAR

Winnipeg.—No labor will be required from Eastern Canada to harvest this year's crop in the west in view of the short crop, the heavy immigration movement this year and the use of combine harvester threshers, it was decided at a meeting held by the Canadian Passenger Association, attended by immigration, labor, provincial government and railway representatives.

The following statement was handed to the press by J. B. Parker, secretary:

"In view of the short crop, heavy immigration movement this year, combined harvester and threshers available and on account of the labor available by reason of the general industrial and mining development in the west, it was decided that no labor would be required from Eastern Canada this year. The whole situation of the harvest will be taken care of by labor available in Western Canada.

WEDDINGS

SWEENEY—WARD

A lovely wedding was solemnized at the First United church, Wetaskiwin, on Thursday, July 25th, at 11:30 a.m., when Dorothy Alexandra, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Ward, was united in the bonds of Holy Matrimony with John Meredith Sweeney, B.A., principal of the Nanton school.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, on whose arm she entered the church, taking her place before the altar as Mr. J. Buchanan played the Wedding March. She was accompanied by Miss Valburga A. Greiner, and the groom was supported by J. Arthur Ward, brother of the bride.

The Girl Guides and Brownies acted as guard of honor, raising by their formation with evergreen boughs, an arch through which the bride passed as she entered the church, whither they followed her. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. L. Elliott, and during the signing of the register Mrs. H. J. Montgomery sang "All Joy be Thine." As the bride retired from the church she gave the salute to the Guides and Brownies with grace and dignity.

The charming bride was beautifully gowned in a period frock of white satin with bands of real lace and silver garnitures. Her veil was of silk net heavily embroidered, and was held in place by a narrow band of pearls and with sprays of lilies of the valley. She carried a quaint muff fashioned of white tulle and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore a dress of pale pink satin with overdress of embroidered net with a picture hat and tulle muff in corresponding shades.

The church was profusely decorated for the occasion by the choir with great banks of green boughs and ferns, brightened by pink and white blossoms.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the family residence, Wetaskiwin, when the bride's mother, who received with the bridal party, wore beige satin with hat to match and a corsage of pink carnations. The home decoration was in pink and white, with roses and sweet peas.

The tea table was centred with the wedding cake resting in a bed of tulle and pink rosebuds and flanked with tall pink tapers in cut glass candlesticks. A dainty buffet luncheon was served, Mrs. A. R. Dickson and Mrs. P. Greiner pouring the tea and Mrs. H. J. Montgomery cutting the ices, with the Misses Ada and Helen Dickson and Mr. Arthur Ward assisting.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Elliott, to which the groom fittingly responded. Mr. Elliott also mentioned the fact that this day marked the thirtieth anniversary of the marriage of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Ward, and proposed a toast to them in honor of the occasion. Joy at this point leaped almost beyond control and with difficulty Mr. Ward replied.

A host of friends bore witness to the love and esteem in which the bride is held by many beautiful and useful gifts, among which were noticed tokens from the school class, the Girl Guides, the Brownies and the Session of the First United Church, also cheques for the bride and groom from Vineland, Grimsby, Dalhousie and Renfrew.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney are enjoying a honeymoon in Vancouver and Victoria, whither they journeyed via Prince Rupert, and on their return will make their home in Nanton.

WETASKIWIN SWINE CLUB MAKE TRIP TO LACOMBE

The Wetaskiwin Swine Club motored to Lacombe on July 12th to meet the clubs from other districts, and 60 children, ranging in age from 10 to 18, had a class lesson in judging the various types of swine at the Experimental Farm, under the able instruction of Mr. Barbour and Mr. Wilson. The second class will be held on Saturday, August 3rd, at 2 p.m., and parents and friends of the club members are cordially invited to bring their lunch baskets and cups and have a picnic dinner on the grounds with the class, work following. This is another opportunity for visiting the Experimental Farm.

Edmonton, July 24.—Asking for a number of new departures in the educational field, a deputation from the Alberta Teachers' Alliance waited on Premier Brownlee and discussed the present school situation in Alberta, particularly in regard to the proposed school bill. J. Powell, president, and J. W. Barnett, secretary, headed the deputation, which included also H. D. Ainley, past president, and C. O. Hicks, principal of the Victoria high school.

A commission to make a complete survey of the Alberta school system was suggested, for the purpose of securing information that will point the way to the most necessary and desirable changes. The feeling of the teachers' organization as presented to the premier, is that the overhauling of the educational system should not be made a "cat's paw of party political expediency," and a government commission is looked upon as the best means of avoiding such an end. Representatives of the government, each of the political groups in the legislature, the trustees and the teachers, should be on the commission, it was suggested.

Considerable more information is needed, from the alliance's point of view, on several points in the new school bill, particularly as to the county unit of administration for educational purposes, different methods of implementing, local control in education, the financing of the educational system, supervision and inspection of schools, and state systems of education.

PORTS DAY PARADE FOR KIDDIES NEXT WEDNESDAY

The Ladies' Amateur Athletic Club of Wetaskiwin, are sponsoring a Sports Day Parade for kiddies next Wednesday in connection with the Provincial Championship Athletic Meet. Six prizes will be given as follows: For boys' fancy costume, for girls' fancy costume, for boys' comic costume, for girls' comic costume, for the youngest boy, for the youngest girl, in fancy or comic dress. All children must be on foot. The youngsters are asked to meet at the Alexandra school grounds not later than 12:15, where competent persons will be in charge, and the parade will move off at 12:45 sharp for the athletic park, where the young folk will join in the afternoon's festivities. Arrangements will probably be made to have all competitors in the sports take part in the parade.

SLEEPING QUARTERS DESIRED FOR THE VISITING ATHLETES

Acomodation for the dozens of visiting athletes who will compete at the Provincial Championship Athletic Meet here on Wednesday next is a big problem which the Ladies' Amateur Athelitc Club of Wetaskiwin has undertaken to solve, but the hearty co-operation of the citizens is very essential if Wetaskiwin is to maintain its reputation as a city of courtesy. The Club will be materially assisted if citizens who can provide gratuitously sleeping quarters for either sex will notify Mrs. A. Rodell, president of the club, or phone The Times office. All visiting athletes, upon arrival on Tuesday next, will register at the Northern Drug Company and will be escorted to their respective billets by members of the committee.

KIWANIANS AND FARMERS AT LACOMBE EXPERIMENTAL FARM

On Wednesday afternoon of this week, the Wetaskiwin Kiwanis Club, accompanied by Kiwanis queens and a large number of farmers and their families throughout the community, motored to the Experimental Farm at Lacombe, where a very enjoyable and profitable time was spent. The visitors were shown over the Experimental plots and a lot of information was obtained respecting the many experiments which are being conducted at the farm. A bounteous basket luncheon was served and the members of the Club greatly appreciated the reception extended by the farm officials. The visit proved a great revelation to several of the party, as this was their first trip to the farm.

BIG INCREASE IN ACCIDENTS IS REPORTED

An increase of 959 accidents for the first six months of this year has been recorded at the local offices of the Workmen's Compensation Board over the corresponding period of last year according to figures released by Alex Ross, commissioner of the board on Thursday morning. The number of accidents reported during the 1929 period being 6,914, while in 1928 the number was 5,955. An increase of five in the number of fatal accidents is also reported, the figure for the 1929 period being 37 against 32 in the 1928 period.

Officials of the Board state that the increase in accidents is due to the fact that there are a larger number of members insured under the act, the Railway Workers being brought in this year, while it is estimated that there is 40 per cent more industrial activity this year than last.

NO PASSPORTS ASKED OF TOURISTS ENTERING CANADA

No passports are required by tourists entering Canada. Automobiles may be brought into the Dominion for the purpose of health or pleasure for a period up to ninety days without duty or bond, and for a period up to six months by the deposit of a bond for the amount of duty and taxes ordinarily payable on the automobile.

Automobiles may be entered at a Canadian boundary port of customs for a period not exceeding 24 hours by the owner surrendering his state license card, which will be handed to him on his return.

If he desires to enter for a period of 60 days he must obtain a permit from the collector at the Canadian customs port of entry which he must fill in in triplicate with certain particulars regarding his car. One of these will constitute a permit and the other he will present to the collector when he leaves the Dominion.

Application for an extension of 30 days over the 60-day permit granted will be granted by the collector providing he is satisfied as to the bona fides of the applicant as a tourist.

JUDGES DEFER DECISION OVER WOMEN'S RIGHTS

London, July 27.—After hearing the arguments of the counsel for the Dominion of Canada, the Judicial committee of the privy council Friday reserved decision on the question as to whether women are eligible to sit in the Senate of Canada. The question is being raised in appeal taken by five Alberta women from the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada holding that women are not "qualified persons" within the meaning of the British North America Act to be summoned to the Senate.

The Dominion is opposing the appeal.

Eugene Lafleur, K.C., for the Dominion argued that the British North America Act should be construed according to the natural meaning of the words used at the date the statute was passed. The title, senator, was a strictly masculine term.

He declared the object of the act, was to unite the various provinces. There was no room for an inference that the framers of the statute intended to render women eligible for membership n the upper chamber of the Canadian Parliament while they remained excluded from the upper chamber of the British Parliament, on which the Canadian Parliament was expressibly modelled.

Such a chance, he contended, would have been so fundamental and so momentous that any such intention would have been expressed explicitly. Furthermore the terms of the union between the provinces afforded strong grounds for inferring it was intended to make the constitution of the senate similar to that of the upper house.

For the same side Hon. Geoffrey Lawrence, K.C., submitted there had never been an instance, prior to 1919 of a woman being summoned to the privy council and there was no suggestion they could have been summoned.

At this Lord Merrivale remarked it was recorded how centuries ago Anne, Countess of Pembroke, sat on the bench with His Majestys judges and therefore any broad statement of women's former position should be scrutinized closely.

Lord Darling then invited counsel's attention to certain terms in the oath taken by privy councillors. "For instance," he said, "he must advise the King without regard to love and affections. Is any woman capable of that?" Mr. Lawrence replied with an emphatic "no." A privy councillor has also, his lordship continued, "to keep the King's counsel secret," and he asked if any woman was able to do that. "I leave that to their lordships," Mr. Lawrence replied.

In a brief reply, Hon. N. W. Rowell, K. C., counsel for the appellant women, alluded to suggestions made that proper procedure would be to secure an amendment to the British North America Act. It was not a very easy matter to secure an amendment, he pointed out.

ENOUGH IS PLENTY

(By Walt Mason)

A lot of dollars get away that I might gather for my store; but I am old and tired and gray and coins don't charm me any more. I have enough put down in brine to keep me going till I die, and then provide those aunts of mine with all they need, including pie. I am so glad to be alive, with all I need to comfort me, I would not give two bucks for five, or pluck a dollar from a tree. I sit beside my garden gate, and watch the multitudes go by, all eager to accumulate a store of money wide and high. I like to see the pep displayed by stalwart workers in their, prime, each trying, at his honest trade, to gather in another dime. I like to see the thrifty men providing for their wintry age, with axe or trowel, saw or pen, each drawing down his goodly wage. I like to see the young men chase on eager feet, with shining eyes, to struggle in the marketplace for honors and a golden prize. But it is sad to see old goats who have large bundles of their own, go chasing after fifteen cents, although the effort makes them groan. They have more coin than they could spend however fast they'd make it go; and they are drawing to the end of this the pilgrimage of woe. It seems a cheap and tawdry thing to sweat for money by the ton, when it is nearly time to wing our way to realms beyond the sun. We cannot take the rubles there, we have to leave them all behind; so come with me and take a chair, and gossip with a tranquil mind.

HEALTH SUGGESTIONS

(By Dr. Gordon Bates)

A little boy sat beside a window, with his head on his hands. He seemed quite indifferent to the shouts of the other youngsters at play in the street. He looked very miserable.

Now usually, when a little boy doesn't want to go out and play, his mother knows that something's the matter. If she is a rather careless mother she may just do nothing, and let him sit there feeling miserable. Or she may give him a dose of castor oil, or send him to bed, or both.

But if she is an intelligent mother she will send for the doctor at once, before her child has a chance to get very sick. By doing that, she may save his life.

Little Jim's mother was intelligent, and she loved her child. So before long a big car stopped at the house and a big man came in with a little satchel. Several minutes passed, then:

"Now, I don't think you have anything to worry about," the doctor said. "It's diphtheria, all right, but he'll come around, thanks to your promptness in sending for a doctor. If you'd waited for another hours before securing medical attention for him, it might have been a different story. As it is, his recovery will be much faster, thanks to your alertness."

Now this story, which happens to be absolutely true, about real people, this story has a moral. And the moral is, don't guess about disease. Don't take a chance. Think Safety First about disease, just as you think it about accidents. How can you tell what a sudden "queer feeling" may mean. Little Jim's mother didn't know he had diphtheria when she called a doctor. How could she tell? But she didn't take a chance. She called upon the one man in the community who could tell her what was the matter with her child—the doctor. And by her promptness she possibly saved that child's life.

When you get sick, get a doctor before you get very sick. Over a lifetime such a policy will save you money as well as misery—and it will be a longer lifetime.

Of course, Jimmy's mother might have done still better than she did. She might have absolutely prevented him from getting diphtheria, by taking him to a doctor months before, when he was perfectly well, and having toxoid administered to him, just as she had him vaccinated against smallpox. But failing to do that, she did do the next best thing. She called the doctor early and saved a life.

This article is not written to frighten anyone. On the contrary, it is hoped that of those who read it, some at least will find new security, new protection against disease by cultivating the habit of calling upon their physicians when slight physical trouble begins to bother them, just as a motorist takes his car to the garage when the engine develops a little knock, instead of waiting until the bearings are burned out.

Remember, a so-called "simple" sore throat may be the beginning of scarlet fever or diphtheria. A plain, ordinary little cough, or a high temperature may hera'd tuberculosis, pneumonia, or typhoid fever. A pain in the stomach today may mean acute appendicitis tomorrow. Any one of a number of "simple" little discomforts may be signs of the beginnings of any one of a dozen diseases.

TO ESTABLISH CHAIN OF PROVINCIAL PARKS

Edmonton, July 25. — Provincial parks now take their place in the Alberta scheme of things, beginning at Gull Lake, where the provincial government has acquired a strip of land for development purposes. This, it is announced by Premier Brownlee, is the first step in the establishment of a chain of public parks and people's playgrounds that will eventually take in various parts of the province and minister substantially to the comfort and pleasure of life in Alberta.

The government has just completed the purchase of an area of 17 acres at Aspen Beach, on Gull Lake, with a water frontage of 550 feet, and adjacent to the hotel. Its intention is to develop the rear of this area as a public park, while the front portion will give free access for bathing and boating purposes. A pier, 450 long, will be built out to deep water, and will be ready for use next summer.

H. L. Seymour, government town planning director, is preparing plans to rthe development scheme, which will include both beautification and recreation effects.

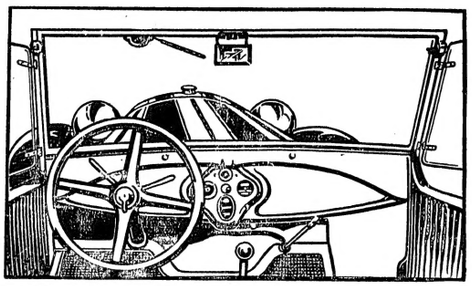
THE FORD CAR SHATTERPROOF GLASS WINDSHIELD



Protection with Clear Vision

THE shatterproof glass windshield on all Ford cars is one of many important safety features that contribute to the pleasure and comfort of all Ford Model "A" owners. The peace of mind and feeling of security made possible by this factor of safety is further enhanced by the clear vision roof pillars, six-brake system, ¾ irreversible steering, one piece gas tank and all-steel body.

The Ford car shatterproof glass windshield does not splinter under the impetus of a direct blow. In case of a collision there is no flying glass to endanger driver or passengers.

The vision is clear and unobstructed with the Ford shatterproof glass windshield. At the same time the driver realizes that this windshield is a protection and a factor in creating driving confidence and owner enthusiasm.

THE TIGER TRAIL

by Edison Marshall — Illustrations by RAUL FRENAY

WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE

Dr. Long is visiting Southley Downs to which he is conducted by Ahmad Das, an Oriental. There he meets Mr. Southley, whom a detective friend, Alexander Pierce, has told him to watch, and his son Ernest Southley, Mr. Hayward and his son Vilas, and then Josephine Southley, whom he had seen faint on the train. Josephine tells him the story of Southley Downs and its ghost, which is not the ghost of a human being but of a tiger.

Dr. Long has a quarrel with Vilas Hayward over Josephine, and finds that the Haywards have a strange authority over the Southleys. He is ordered to leave Southley Downs. The rain prevents him leaving at once. Dr. Long and Ernest go out on the road in the rain looking for the tracks of a tiger that Ernest says are there. They find the tracks. Later Ernest and Dr. Long see a prowling creature in the hall of Southley Downs. This frightens the elder Hayward, who also sees it. Ernest begins to feel that Ahmad Das is perpetrating some devilltry.

The elder Hayward is later found dead, his neck broken as if by a giant's blow.

The coroner and police arrive in order to investigate.

Because of the murder, Dr. Long must remain at Southley Downs. All the persons there are questioned by Inspector Freeman.

Dr. Long becomes jealous of the love he believes to exist between Vilas Hayward and Josephine. During the course of investigations of the crime Dr. Long becomes suspicious of a man named Robin. He determines to watch him.

'N WITH THE STORY

"But it seems you trusted everyone else." I glanced toward Southley and his daughter.

"Naturally Mr. Southley knew it. I came at his invitation—and your own, of course, too, Long. Miss Southley learned the truth just this evening, and I consider it a distinct reflection on the ability of her father and myself to judge character that we waited so long in making her an ally. But I will say—it's more her father's fault than mine."

"You must remember that my acquaintance with my daughter was somewhat slight," Southley explained. "She has been away to school so much—only here a few weeks. Besides she did know a few things. I'm sorry I didn't tell her more."

Father and daughter exchanged smiles. Josephine herself seemed changed. It was curious that I had not noticed it the moment I stepped into the room. There was a new light in her eyes, a rising of the delicious color that played ever in her cheeks. Again I saw the smile that I had surprised at that night in the drawing-room long ago. Evidently there had been developments in the mystery of which I was not aware.

"Remember, we will need your son too," Alexander told my host.

Alexander and I walked together into the drawing-room, and we had a minute's talk at the foot of the stairs.

"I'm going to my room now," he explained. "It's a maid's room on the third floor, but it fits my purpose perfectly. I have a few chemical experiments to make."

"Of course it was you who destroyed the evidence on the white stone."

"Not destroyed it. Merely gathered it up. I wanted to make some blood tests. And it pained me to cause you and the inspector so much disappointment."

"I imagined it would!"

Then we had a little laugh together. It was all too plain that a deep professional jealousy existed between such free-lance experts as Alexander and staff detectives like Inspector Freeman.

"But why in the world did you tear that piece from Ahmad's shirt?" I asked.

Alexander laughed again—a boyish, joyous sound that died quickly in the silence of the room.

"I'm afraid that is evidence of my quixotic nature," he said. "But I had to have a sample of the bloodstains; and I knew it would break Freeman's heart if I took the whole shirt. So I just tore out the piece."

He sobered and became very businesslike. That was one of the marvels of the man. One minute he was the best of comrades—boyish, laughing, irresponsible. The next, he was the cool-headed, tireless sleuth with every nerve and muscle alert.

"There's work for to-morrow." he went on swiftly. "You'll have your part to do. So will Southley have his part, and his two children. To-morrow I'm going to take the boat on a little expedition—over to the plateau. You are to meet me on the path at my return—just after nightfall. You can have the inspector with you if you like. Southley and his daughter will be close about, and they will know their parts. The hour to strike is almost here."

"And Vilas? What about him? And Ahmad?"

"Ahmad is the suspected murderer. I'm afraid Vilas won't do."

"But Josephine Southley would think otherwise," I told him with some bitterness. "You must know—that they are allies. You couldn't have missed that point."

"Allies?" he echoed coldly. "What do you mean?"

"She's going to marry him—that's what I mean. And she's bitterly against me. Thinking that her lover might be accused of the murder of his father, she told the detective things that implicated me and got him to hold me here."

He turned and started up the stairs.

"Sometimes, Dr. Long," he told me slowly, "your mental grasp is quite astounding—for its perfect and abounding aptitude to make a fool of yourself."

And he left me to ponder in the halls below.

Inspector Freeman—who had learned the truth at last—and I walked down to the shore with Pierce at eleven the next morning. The rowboat waited for my friend, and in it were two strong colored men to row. Alexander had put on hip-boots and was armed with a heavy rifle. And it was plain to see that Freeman was entirely contemptuous of the whole proceedings.

"You're a funny one, Pierce," he spoke jokingly—and at the same time meant every word he said. "In the first place, coming with all that stage scenery on yourself. It takes one of you correspondence school detectives to do stunts like that. I suppose you thought that the murderer would recognize your determined face from picture in the newspapers—and make himself scarce before you could get out the handcuffs."

"Rather a different reason, my dear inspector," Alexander answered him as he began to slip the great cartridges into the magazine of the heavy rifle. "It wasn't the murderer I was so frightened of. In the first place, I didn't want you to leave the scene in disgust, as you might have done upon recognizing me. You were doing too good work."

"You needn't have been afraid of that. The man was already in my hands. And I'm glad you appreciate the work I have done."

"Perfectly, Freeman, perfectly. It was particularly clever the way you found the shirt."

"Of course, you were in the hall all the time."

"Of course. I wondered what you and my good friend Long were going to do."

"I suppose you know that the shirt is going to put the noose about Ahmad's neck?"

"One can never tell, inspector."

"It's a piece of evidence that cannot be questioned—although I admit the final tests as to the authenticity of the stains has not yet been made."

"And besides, Freeman—there are other reasons why I thought it best that certain occupants of this house didn't recognize me." Alexander went on seriously. "It would help out in the end. I confess I don't care for disguises as a rule. And now I must bid you good day, and go search yonder jungle for the murderer of Hayward."

Freeman laughed uproariously.

"With a rifle," too!" he exulted. "I'd think you were going elephant hunting. Of all the quixotic enterprises! You can't believe that the murderer is still at large, when I have him under my constant supervision in the house! Pierce, I have every admiration for your qualities, but I assure you you are making the mistake of your career."

"Every one has to make mistakes sometimes, inspector," Alexander returned quietly. "Besides— I don't suppose you remember about the breaking of the levee—how the murderer would have time to cross the isthmus to the plateau, but couldn't possibly go farther?"

"I remember that perfectly. But the real murderer didn't try to cross at all. He came back into the house."

"Then there's the matter of the scratches—and the legend, and the rest of it. None of these things must be overlooked, Freeman. And I'll meet you both soon after dark."

We watched the negroes row away across the dark swamp water. He was gone all afternoon. Once it seemed to me that I heard the far-off echo of two rifle shots, but I couldn't be sure. Freeman continued his investigations. Vilas walked about on the green hillside like a hunted man. The long afternoon waxed hot, the shadows lengthened, the sun cast its glamor over all the waste of the marshes. Twilight dropped like a white mist, and the stars began to crop out of the sky. The night life of the marsh awakened—insect and wind and bird had their chorus.

I don't know where my thoughts were that long afternoon. I tried to read for a while. It wasn't a success. I knew that my stay at Southley Downs, so often threatened, was at its end at last. Tomorrow we would all cross the marsh to testify at the coroners' inquest; and I would never return to Southley Downs again. The mystery and the charm would go out of my life to stay, as the swamp-water glided beneath the boat.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1928, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 24

There is one way to use the informatory double to great advantage that is overlooked by many players. Suppose the dealer has three good suits, but no cards or a singleton in the fourth suit. Such a hand is not a justifiable no trumper, for clever opponents with a set-up suit will pass and win enough tricks in the dealer's missing suit to save game. With this type of hand, it is much better tactics to bid a suit and then, if overbid by an opponent, to double informatorily.

Such a double, after an original suit bid and a pass by partner, is an informatory double and requests partner to bid that one of the other two suits which best fits his hand. If he has no other four-card suit, he should bid two tricks in the suit first bid by the dealer. For example:

	Hearts — K, 9, 6, 3 Clubs — K, 10, 4, 3 Diamonds — 10, 6, 3 Spades — Q, 9
Hearts — 4, 2 Clubs — A, Q, J, 9, 7, 5 Diamonds — Q Spades — K, 10, 4, 2	Y	Hearts — Q, 8, 5 Clubs — 8, 6, 2 Diamonds — 9, 8, 7, 5, 2 Spades — J, 6
	Hearts — A, J, 10, 7 Clubs — none Diamonds — A, K, J, 4 Spades — A, 8, 7, 5, 3

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one spade. A bid two clubs and Y and B passed.

Z had the type of hand just discussed; so he doubled the two club bid. This double was informatory and was asking Y to bid two hearts or two diamonds, whichever of the two suits was the longer and stronger in his hand.

A passed. Y figured that his heart suit was too weak to offer a chance for game, but felt that his two club tricks would enable him and his partner to defeat the two club bid. Y, therefore, disregarded Z's express request to bid his long suit and passed.

Played at two clubs doubled Y Z defeated the bid by one trick, while at hearts they would have scored an easy game and rubber. In this hand, If Y wanted to depart from Z's request to bid his long suit, he could have done so to better advantage by bidding two no trump, instead of trying to defeat the two club bid. There was a game and a rubber for Y Z either at hearts or at no trump, but they failed to grasp their opportunity and on the next deal A B won the game and rubber.

Be on the lookout for such opportunities and, if your partner makes an informatory double, do as he requests and not as you think. He knows his hand much better than you do and is, therefore, in a much better position to direct the plan of play.

Here is a hand where the declarer made a little slam. Try your skill and compare results with the analysis that will be given in the next article.

Problem No. 28

	Hearts — Q, J, 4 Clubs — A, K, 9, 8, 6, 4 Diamonds — K Spades — A, 4, 2
Hearts — K, 9, 7, 6 Clubs — Q, J, 7 Diamonds — 8, 4, 2 Spades — J, 6, 3	Y A B Z	Hearts — 8, 2 Clubs — 5, 3, 2 Diamonds — Q, 10, 9, 5 Spades — Q, 10, 9, 5
	Hearts — A, 10, 5, 3 Clubs — 10 Diamonds — A, J, 7, 6, 3 Spades — K, 8, 7

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one diamond. A passed, Y bid two clubs, B passed and Z bid two no trumps. All passed and A opened the six of hearts. How should Z now play the hand so that he can score a little slam against any defense? It is a fine example of the double squeeze. Try to figure it out.

Here's what happens to the Contract player when he makes a bid for game. You have to make some clever plays now and then or lose your bid:

Problem No. 29

	Hearts — 7 Clubs — A, 8, 5 Diamonds — A, Q, 10, 8, 5, 2 Spades — 10, 8, 5
Hearts — K, Q, 4, 2 Clubs — Q, 10, 9, 4, 3 Diamonds — 7, 3 Spades — 4, 2	Y A B Z	Hearts — A, J, 10, 9, 6 Clubs — 6, 2 Diamonds — K, J, 9 Spades — K, J, 7
	Hearts — 8, 5, 3 Clubs — K, J, 7 Diamonds — 6, 4 Spades — A, Q, 9, 6, 3

No score, first game at Contract. Z dealt, bid one spade and A passed. Y bid two diamonds, B bid two hearts and Z passed. A bid three hearts, Y bid three spades and B bid four hearts. Z bid four spades, A and Y passed and B doubled. All passed and A opened the king of hearts which held the trick. He then led the seven of diamonds. Y played the queen and B won the trick with the king. B then led the six of clubs. How should Z plan the play from this point on? Solution in the next article.

Answer to Problem No. 27

	Hearts — K, 8 Clubs — 4, 2 Diamonds — K, 8, 7 Spades — A, Q
Hearts — 10, Clubs — J, 10, 9 Diamonds — 9, 5, 3 Spades — 8	Y A B Z	Hearts — 9 Clubs — none Diamonds — J, 10 Spades — K, J, 10, 9, 7, 3
	Hearts — none Clubs — K, Q, 8, 7 Diamonds — 4 Spades — 6, 5, 4, 2

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z so play the hand that they can win eight of the nine tricks against any defense?

Z should lead the four of diamonds, winning the trick in Y's hand with the king. Y should now lead the king of hearts on which Z should discard the deuce of spades. Y should now lead the seven of diamonds which B must win with the jack and on which Z should discard the four of spades. B is now forced to lead the trey of spades which Y wins with the queen.

Y should now lead the ace of spades and A is forced to discard. He cannot discard a club or Z's four clubs will win the rest of the tricks. A is forced, therefore, to discard either the nine of diamonds or the ten of hearts. If he discards the nine of diamonds, Y's eight of diamonds is good. If he discards the ten of hearts, Y's eight of hearts is good. Suppose he discards the nine of diamonds. Y's eight of diamonds is now good and should be led. Z should discard the seven of clubs and A is forced to make one more discard. He cannot discard a club or Z's three remaining clubs are good; so he is forced to discard the ten of hearts. Y should now lead the eight of hearts and Z should discard the eight of clubs. Z's king and queen of clubs now are good for the last two tricks.

Her Nerves Set Her Trembling

Nearly Got Best of Her

Mrs. David Rodtka, Rocky Mountain House, Alta., writes:—"When I first got married my nerves were something terrible as I was in a run down condition on account of boarding a number of men.

"My nerves were so bad they nearly got the best of me, and the least little excitement would set me trembling, and I had to have some one with me all the time.

"One day I saw an advertisement of and decided to give them a trial. After taking one box I could feel a big improvement, and after I had taken three boxes I was better, and, now, I have no sign of nerve trouble of any description.

"I feel as though I cannot praise Heart and Nerve Pills too highly as they certainly have been worth their weight in gold to me. They are a boon to anyone suffering with bad nerves."

The Floral Assets of the C.P.R.

Upper—Gardens and fountain at Kenora Station.
Lower—Woodstock Station grounds.

Flowers are among the assets of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is the policy of the Company to establish permanent flower gardens at every station along the long line of track stretched across the continent.

In the very early days of the railroad the pioneers were too busy attending to the task of opening up new roads to give much attention to flowers, yet even back in the early days one of the C. P. R. employees produced a few varieties of flower seeds in his own plot and distributed them amongst his friends at some of the stations with the object of starting flower gardens along the line. This took place over 30 years ago, and to-day the Company spends a considerable amount producing and distributing seeds and shrubs of all kinds to station agents along the lines. The Company maintains a floral department with headquarters at the Windsor Street Station in Montreal.

In carrying out this work a great number of trees, seeds and perennial plants are used annually. Suitable trees such as ash, elm and maple, are supplied, and shrubbery such as honey-suckle, lilac, barberra, elder, spirea, weigelia and many other varieties together with a long list of bed flowers. Vines are also supplied to cover buildings and fences surrounding stations. For this purpose Virginia creepers and Japanese ivy are considered best.

During the past thirty years the encouraging influence of the C. P. R. gardens has materially assisted in the inauguration of floral societies all over the country, many of the officials of the Company being members of these societies. It is pleasing to remember that the work in connection with the gardens is credited directly to the agents and employees of the station, for it is carried out mostly in their own time, through their enthusiasm in beautifying the stations of which they are in charge. The C. P. R. recognizes this effort and much interest is aroused by the annual competitions on both eastern and western lines of the Company for the finest station gardens. Extensive layouts do not enter into the contest but the gardens that have shown the most improvement during the year are the ones that carry off the honors. Representatives from the floral department tour the lines each year, sizing up the gardens and deciding the winner. Substantial money prizes are awarded each year.

The floral department of the Canadian Pacific is constantly in touch with horticultural institutions, including agricultural colleges and societies, so that no stone is left unturned to keep up to the very latest standard.

Jasper Park Is Most Delightful Summer Resort

Mrs. Martin and daughter of Exeter, Ont., and Mrs. V. C. French and the editor, spent a few days at Jasper Park recently, and had a very enjoyable holiday. It is several years since the editor visited Jasper, and the improvements which have taken place during the past two or three years are almost unbelievable.

Of course there was the thrill of The Lodge itself, that spacious building of peeled logs and rafftered roof. The post-box is the hollow trunk of a tree, and if that will not give the hardest-boiled a sense of romance and billet-doux, what will? Even the lamps and waste baskets are of native lumber ornamented with strange curves and bulbous growths. The two huge fireplaces of native stone are rustic, too, but not the rugs, soft velvety squares and oblongs the size of an ordinary floor — dozens of them. Neither are the chairs rustic, though suited to the room, being the deep comfortable kind interspersed with wicker chairs and hassocks which lend themselves readily to cozy grouping.

Although The Lodge is only seven years old, already the central building has had to be doubled, while in 1927—there were over ten thousand guests that summer and many had to be turned away for lack of accommodation—a ten-roomed cottage and a sixteen-roomed cottage, called Point Cottage where the Governor General stayed, were erected. More accommodation was constructed last year, and increased accommodation is being provided this year.

The bungalows now front well-defined streets, running partway around Lac Beauvert. These bungalows are very commodious and well equipped, the rates ranging from a nominal charge to as high as one hundred and fifty dollars a day, according to the accommodation required.

In the short time at our disposal, we could not see many of the attractions, as the park occupies 5,300 square miles of sky piercing peaks and ice-clad slopes, gem-like lakes and wide sweeping silver-threaded valleys.

One of the most interesting drives is to the Glacier of the Angel (Mount Edith Cavell) a distance of thirty-six miles return. The highway affords good motoring, and by a course of wide-sweeping switchbacks, its altitude increases by nearly 2,000 feet, giving the tourist an ever changing series of most striking and beautiful panoramas of mountains and valleys unequalled on the continent. The very comfortable automobiles which take the passengers on this drive go to within a short distance of the glacier, and anyone disposed to do so may walk over a well trodden path on to the ice which has fallen from the glacier, almost overhead.

Another drive well worth taking is to Maligne Canyon, which is a natural phenomenon, ranking among the most extraordinary and interesting on the continent, while the drives to Pyramid and Patricia Lakes and also to Pocahontas are very interesting.

The drivers of the cars are all university students, courteous, intelligent and sufficiently students of psychology that they stop at the outstanding beauty spots, if only to observe the effect on their passengers.

The waitresses, too, are university students from all parts of the Dominion, and from them also one gets intelligent, courteous and friendly service.

Jasper boasts one of the newest and finest golf courses in America and this popular game is in progress throughout the entire day. The tennis courts are also very fine.

To anyone wishing to scale the highest peaks, Swiss guides are available at very reasonable rates. To those who wish to view the scenery by horseback, very good types of mountain horses and outfits are furnished, while the guides are fully qualified, experienced and thoroughly dependable men.

A new and inviting swimming pool proves a very popular attraction. The crystal clear water is filtered and heated and is constantly changing. The pool is in charge of a competent swimming instructor. Popular pastimes in the evening are boating on Lac Beauvert, and dancing in the large dance hall at the Lodge. Motion pictures are also shown from eight to nine each evening.

To all those desiring a delightful holiday, we have no hesitation whatever in recommending a trip to Jasper Park.

LONE RIDGE

A pleasant afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. L. G. Olson Thursday, when a number of friends gathered in honor of the recent bride, Mrs. O. S. Headquist, formerly Miss Florence Olson, and showered her with numerous useful and beautiful gifts. Lunch was served to over thirty-five guests.

Mesdames Scott and Moon, sisters of Mrs. Nellie Allen, arrived from Seattle via the Canadian National on Friday evening, and will visit with the Allen family for a few weeks.

Miss Evelyne Christie of Millet, and Miss Dorothy Charlesworth of Bashaw, spent Wednesday at the home of Miss Wilma Sparks.

Casper Faulkner of Edmonton, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sproule.

Misses Agnes Anderson and Evelyn Alberg spent the latter part of last week at the lake.

Rev. J. H. and Mrs. Faulkner and small daughter Ruth of Edmonton, are visiting in the district en route to Gull Lake. Mr. Faulkner is pastor of the Delton Baptist church, Edmonton, but was formerly at Brightview.

The Ladies' Aid of the Brightview Baptist Church arranged a program and sale of fancy work at the church on Wednesday, July 24th. Games on the grounds were enjoyed by the younger crowd until 9:15, when all entered the church and were entertained with musical selections by the orchestra led by Rev. Benke. Other numbers were solos by Miss Wilma Sparks and Mrs. P. G. Olson, duets by Misses Muriel Sproule and Evelyne Alberg, Rev. and Mrs. Baxter, and a humorous song by Russel A. Stevens, recitations by Misses Rosa Breshears and Evelyn Christie. The reading by Miss Christie entitled "What the Little Girl Can Do," was very well rendered, and shows that she possesses talent. A lunch followed the program, and all attending pronounced the evening a success.

The Lone Ridge U.F.A. will hold their regular meeting at the hall on Tuesday evening, August 6. Following the business there will be a social evening with program, games, music and special speakers. The young people are cordially invited to come and bring their friends.

CEREAL CROP FLELD DAY AT EXPERIMENTAL STATION, LACOMBE, FRIDAY, AUG. 9

Although the 1929 weather conditions are about the worst on record the crops at the Experimental Station have stood the severe test remarkably well. The trying crop season has brought out prominently the results of different methods of cultivation, different rotations and different varieties and more may be learned than in a really good year.

A Cereal Crop Field Day is being arranged for Friday, August 9th, at which addresses will be given by men prominent in various lines of crop improvement. During the day a trip will be made about the many lines of experimental work at the station. Following a banquet at 6:30 addresses will be given by speakers who are recognized authorities on their subjects. This will be an interesting and profitable day for everyone who can visit the Station. The program will be as follows:

1:30 p.m. in the Plot Field; F. H. Reed, Welcome to Visitors; W. T. G. Weiner, Ottawa, "Methods of Registration and Pedigreeing"; G. E. De Long, "Methods of Producing Elite Stock Seed"; R. A. Derick, Ottawa, "The Classification of Oats"; Dr. G. B. Sanford, Edmonton, "Root Rots and Their Control"; Banquet at 6:30, followed by evening meeting; J. H. Craigie, Winnipeg, "Methods of Rust Control"; Dr. O. S. Aamodt, Edmonton, "The Field for New Varieties"; Peter Stewart, Toronto, "Malting Barley"; W. J. Stephen, Edmonton, Marketing Registered Seed"; Major H. G. L. Strange, Penn, "The Education of Seed Growers."

1500 COTTON MILLS CLOSED WITH EMPLOYEES ON STRIKE

Manchester, Eng., July 29.—A half million cotton trade workers struck this morning, closing down 1,500 mills, when employers refused to recede from their intention of cutting wages 12½ per cent.

The strike was automatic, having been decided upon Saturday. Last minute efforts to avert it Saturday and Sunday failed. It affected almost the entire Lancashire cotton industry, with the exception of a few plants outside the employers' federation which were still operating.

It was the outgrowth of continued depression in the textile trade which three weeks ago led to an announcement by employers that a 12½ per cent. reduction in wages would be made effective Saturday. The workers' unions refused to accept the reductio and ordered the strike when efforts at negotiating their differences were rebuffed by the employers.

Nearly every city and town in Lancashire was affected by the strike which was expected to cause a loss in wages of about $5,000,000 weekly.

FURTHER DEVELOPMENT ALBERTA SALT DEPOSITS REPORTED IN PROSPECT

Edmonton, July 26.—Further development of the salt deposits in the McMurray district is in prospect, involving, it is understood, a reorganization of the Alberta Salt Company. John Gillespie, president of the company, and R. J. Hutchings, Calgary, president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, interviewed Premier Brownlee in behalf of a group of investors interested in the exploitation of the northern salt resources, and asked if the government would turn over to the reorganized company the area at McMurray reserved for salt well development.

NEW DEVICE WOULD SAVE MUCH WHEAT

Elimination of stooking and use of binder twine; reduction of labor; lessening of cost of harvesting and threshing are among the advantages claimed for a device which will be given most stringent tests under the direction of officials of the provincial department of agriculture at the Oliver farm on Tuesday and Thursday, according to an announcement made by Hon. George Hoadley, minister of agriculture and health.

The device in question is an attachment for the ordinary binder, and combined with this is what is called a "header barge" running along behind the binder and catching the heads of the grain as they are cut. The heads are not bound into sheaves and the grain is left well-stooked in the barge. It is claimed that the grain will withstand inclement weather more effectively this way, and also can be easily shovelled into the threshing machine.

Ordinary binders require grain from 12 to 14 inches high to properly cut, but the new device will effectively handle it if it is as short as six inches.

Next week, seven of these machines will be demonstrated at Vegreville, Vermilion, Sedgewick, Camrose, Coronation, Stettler and Oliver, these sections being the short wheat areas of the province. The demonstrations all will be under the direction of government supervisors and every opportunity will be given farmers to see how they operate.

It is expected that their use will save much wheat.

OVER 3,000 KIDDIES ENTERTAINED BY CAMROSE ELKS

Camrose, Alta., July 27.—Children's Day, Thursday, was a big event at the Camrose exhibition for over 3,000 boys and girls when the Camrose Elks took them in charge and provided treats for all and sundry children present. At one o'clock, they were gathered on the normal school grounds, their photographs taken and a short but inspiring address delivered by Rev. C. E. A. Pocock of Duhamel.

It took fully three-quarters of an hour to march the children to the nearby fair grounds. As they passed through the entrance to the paddocks in front of the rgandstand each child was given a strip ticket calling for five real treats, an ice cream, a ride on the merry-go-round, a lollypop, a lemonade and a bag of peanuts.

GREATEST FAIR IN HISTORY OF RED DEER IS CONCLUDED

Red Deer, July 25.—Closing with a wonderful fireworks display on Wednesday night before a fine grandstand crowd, the Red Deer fair ended an outstanding three day run, in the minds of thousands of spectators who passed through the gates during any day of the record breaking event, it was the best show of its kind ever seen and enjoyed in central Alberta.

Apart from the rest of the fair, the livestock exhibits alone were worth coming miles to see, for never has such fine quality stock been gathered together in the barns of the Red Deer fair grounds. The local exhibitors and stockmen from neighboring parts of Alberta had little trouble in defeating exhibitors from the states and from the other provinces, testifying the popular opinion that Alberta can take a leading place in stock raising.

SAYS HARVEST STARTS SOON

Harvesting operations in Alberta are expected to commence within the next 10 days, according to information given out on Tuesday by officials of the Alberta Pacific Grain Co.

The company's crop reports indicate that in Peace River districts showers of the last week have relieved the situation, but previous estimates of yield are reduced to 17 bushels an acre. North and northwest of Edmonton and on the St. Paul de Metis line the weather has been warm and showery lately, and a 15-bushel average is predicted. Slight damage has been reported by hail at Vimy, Clyde, Barrhead, Westlock and Mayerthorpe.

From Edmonton to Wetaskiwin, to Hayter and on the Alliance branch the weather has been hot and no rain reported in the last few days. From Edmonton to Wetaskiwin the yield is reported by company observers to run about 10 bushels to the acre.

PLAN "REAL WHEAT" WITH FULL ABILITY TO RESIST RUST

Ottawa, July 24.—The experiments looking towards a variety of wheat which will be "real wheat" and at the same time have rust resisting qualities, are being continued, said J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture here today and results are becoming confidently hoped for.

While there are a number of rust resisting varieties, certain difficulties have stood in the way of their development generally.

At present those varieties are being experimented with in conjunction with the higher grades, so that results might produce a top grade of Canadian wheat to which the rust resisting properties may adhere.

$7,000,000 GRAIN COMPANY MERGER; CHARTER SECURED

Winnipeg, July 26. — The Searle Grain Company, Limited, has been incorporated under dominion charter to take over the business and property of four elevator companies. The total capital and surplus of the new company will be $7,000,000.

The following companies are to be taken over: Home Grain Company, Limited; Saskatchewan Elevators Company, Limited; Searle Grain Company, and Liberty Grain Co., Ltd., having a total of 366 country elevators and storage capacity of twelve million bushels in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, 120 coal sheds and 25 flour sheds.

R. V. McCULLOUGH, PRINCIPAL OF SCHOOL, RESIGNS

Many Ponoka parents and pupils alike will learn, with regret, of the resignation of Mr. R. V. McCullough, principal of Ponoka school.

Mr. McCullough has been principal for just a year, but during that time has won the confidence of the taxpayers and pupils to a marked degree. A splendid disciplinarian, he has brought the school up to a high standard, while his interest in sport made him a prime favorite with the various athletic clubs of the schools.—Ponoka Herald. (Mr. McCullough is the new principal of the Wetaskiwin schools).

12 KILLED, 19 HURT WHEN GUN EXPLODES ON BRITISH SHIP

Valetta, Malta, July 26.—Twelve marines were killed in an explosion in a gun turret aboard the British cruiser Devonshire in the eastern Mediterranean today. In addition 19 men were injured, some seriously.

The explosion, which is the second serious accident the British navy has suffered recently, was said to have been caused by the blowing out of one of the cruiser's new six inch guns, the whole turret being shattered.

The cruiser Devonshire, which is one of the newest ships in the British navy, has a standard displacement of 10,000 tons. The Devonshire is the second of four ships of the 1925 cruiser program and has been referred to as a "hush" ship, the greatest secrecy having been maintained by the admiralty as to certain of her features when she was launched.

PONOKA STATION AGENT RETIRES

Ponoka, July 29.—After 32 years' service with the Canadian Pacific railway, Thomas J. West, station agent at Ponoka, has been superannuated with pension.

Mr. West came to Ponoka from Ontario in 1901 and has seen Ponoka grow from a little hamlet with a few houses and less than 100 people to a flourishing town of over 1,000 population.

The many friends of Mr. West wish him many years of happiness in which to enjoy his retirement after so many years of service.

NEW SCHOOL DECIDED UPON

The ratepayers decided on Wednesday by their votes that Ponoka must have a new school. The election was keen, but the result was never in doubt and when the ballots were counted it was seen that 121 voted yes and 65 no, thus another big project has been sanctioned for Ponoka.

The plans are very fine, and when completed, the building will be a credit to our community. A twelve room structure, it will cost in the neighborhood of $65,000.00, this including equipment.

POPULATION OF CANADA IS ESTIMATED AT 9,796,000

Ottawa, July 24.—Canada's total population stood at 9,796,000 as of June 1, 1929, according to an estimate issued this afternoon by the Dominion bureau of statistics. This is an increase of approximately 38,000 persons over the same date last year, when the estimated population was 9,658,000.

BLAZE DESTROYS BARN AT VIKING

Viking, Alta., July 27.—Fire destroyed the livery barn of Reed Bros., here at an early hour this morning and what threatened to be a serious conflagration was prevented by the quick and efficient work of the town firemen. A strong wind was blowing at the time but it carried the flying embers away from the town and only small damage was done to any other building excepting the Viking Creamery, the roof of which caught fire from embers but was quickly put out by the firemen.

RECKLESS DRIVER

F. Peterson, Wetaskiwin, will appear in court at Red Deer, Thursday, July 25, to face a charge of reckless driving and being the cause of an accident in which his own car and that of Herman Galipan, Blackfalds, were considerably damaged. By his own admission Peterson was exceeding the speed limit at the time of the mishap.—Calgary Herald.

KEEP THE MONEY

What a contrast between the old ways of harvesting and the "Holt" Combine methods. At one stroke the "Holt" Combined Harvester does away with the cost of Binder Twine—the cost of stooking and hauling bundles and reduces the threshing crew to three in place of a dozen or more—and, no threshing crews to feed.

Instead of paying out his grain profits in threshing bills the "HOLT" owner now keeps these profits for himself—and, the "Holt" owner saves all his grain. Those extra bushels saved mean "Golden Dollars" this year as never before.

PROVINCIAL BRANCH TO BE ORGANIZED HERE

At the Driard Hotel on Wednesday evening next, promptly at 8:30, a meeting will be held to organize a provincial branch of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada, and representatives of various women's athletic and other organizations will be in attendance. The local Ladies' Amateur Athletic Club has charge of arrangements, and women of this city and district are invited to attend.

WETASKIWIN REPRESENTED ON BOARD OF GOVERNORS

At the annual meeting of the Alberta Branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, held in Calgary, H. E. Chalmers and B. W. Bellamy, of this city, were elected on the Board of Governors. Mr. Bellamy, who was in attendance, was re-elected as one of the Alberta Governors on the Dominion body.

J. R. RODGER WINS CALGARY HERALD GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

By securing a six-hole advantage in the morning round and holding grimly to his lead during the afternoon play, J. R. Rodger, Vegreville, defeated Syd Wallis, Lethbridge, five and four in their scheduled 36-hole match in the finals for the Herald's country district golf championship played over the Calgary and Country Club Sunday.

The new champion displayed a steady style of game for the most part but at times a raggedness crept into his play that threatened to materially reduce his lead. On the other hand, Wallis seldom played a sure game but flashed a great deal of good, bad and indifferent golf. At times he was brilliant and on other occasions he could do nothing right.—Herald.

CONTRACT LET FOR WATER DEVELOPMENT SCHEME

Announcement is made by C. C. Planche, of the Calgary Power company, that the contract for the water development scheme at Camrose has been awarded to Messrs. H. G. Macdonald Limited, of Edmonton. The contract includes the construction of a large dam across the water course at Stoney creek, the Miquelon Lake water diversion project, and the construction of the company's water filtration plant and electric sub-station.

The Miquelon Lake project involves the excavation of approximately 25,000 yards of dirt and the construction of a ditch between the first Miquelon Lake and Stoney Creek nine and a half miles long. The company propose setting three crews at the work which will take from three weeks to a month to complete. It is anticipated that everything will be in readiness within five or six weeks after work commences to let the water into the present C.P.R. reservoir. Before this is done it is the intention of the Calgary Power company to thoroughly flush out and clean the reservoir.

The new dam, which will be an earth filled structure with sheet piling core extending well down into the clay, will be approximately 335 feet long and 28 feet high. The down stream side will be seeded down to grass and the up steam side hand paved to prevent boring animals from tunnelling.

The reservoir, which will be properly fenced, will have a capacity of 75 million gallons of water and it is estimated that it will make available approximately 185,000 gallons daily, or three times the present consumption.—Camrose Canadian.

Had Diarrhoea Bowels So Active Feared for His Life

Mrs. S. J. Jago, Canobie, N.B., writes:—"My little boy, when three years old, had a severe attack of diarrhea. The bowels were so active, and he vomited so much, I feared for his life. I tried many medicines, but he was always getting worse. A friend told me of and after the second dose I saw an improvement. I gave him almost half a bottle and he was completely relieved.

"I have used it for the other children, and my husband and myself. My husband gives it great praise, and when he goes away from home to work he always takes a bottle with him."

The ancient art of goat-getting is in full swing at Banff with 25 wild Rocky Mountain goats trapped in June and nearly the same number in July. They are enticed into traps by salt licks of which they are inordinately fond. Some are to add to the wild life of California; others are for exhibition purposes and for zoos.

TUBERCULOSIS

It is an accepted fact that bovine tuberculosis is transmitted to human beings during the years of childhood This transmission usually occurs through the use of milk coming from tubercular cattle. To what extent this is a practical danger depends upon the amount of tuberculosis that exists amongst cattle, because upon that figure would depend the chances of exposure of children to infection.

In a recent number of the Canadian Public Health Journal, there appeared an article on The Prevalence and Extent of Bovine Tuberculosis in Canada. This article presented a summary of the data collected through certain measures which revealed the presence or absence of tuberculosis in some six million cattle, during a number of years, from various sources throughout the Dominion. The conclusion reads: "It would, therefore, appear to be justifiable to estimate that bovine tuberculosis infection in Canada, at the present time does not exceed five per cent." The actual percentage, based on the six million cattle, was approximately four per cent.

It is evident that if approximately nearly four out of every hundred cattle have tuberculosis, there is a very real danger in the transmission of bovine tuberculosis to children in this country. It is not a theoretical danger, but a practical one that continues day by day.

There is no doubt but that children require milk, but no one would suggest taking the risk of using milk that might contain the germs of tuberculosis. Fortunately we have a simple and practical method of meeting the difficulty. Pasteurization of milk destroys all disease-producing germs, including the tuberculosis germ. We may use pasteurized milk and feed it to children, with full confidence that the danger of bovine tuberculosis has been overcome.

Through pasteurization, we have it in our power to prevent immediately the occurrence of even one more case of bovine tuberculosis which attacks little children, destroying some and crippling others. There is no excuse for failure to use such a powerful means for protection from disease.

JAMS AND JELLIES IN A JIFFY

Gone are the days when the kitchen steamed all day with boiling jelly—when all available tables were covered with bottles and jars—when the jelly-maker herself came to the end of this imperfect day stained, hot and tired.

The 1929 method is to make a few glasses of jelly or jam at a time, cook it quickly, seal it and hide it from the family so that it will be ready for the lean fruit months. Six or eight glasses of jelly will not tire anyone and made on several days during each speedy fruit's season will net a result which does honor to any preserve closet.

Among the best fruits for jelly are currants, red raspberries (slightly underripe), grapes and apples and crab apples. Other fruits can be used by combining them with a juice rich in pectin, or by using commercial pectin.

Look the fruit over carefully. Add a small amount of water to juice fruits and cover the hard fruits, such as apples. Cook until tender and strain through a jelly bag, without squeezing.

Do not attempt to use more than two quarts of juice at a time. Use a ten quart kettle. Boil the juice rapidly for five minutes, add the sugar and stir until it is dissolved. Usually two-thirds of a cup of sugar to each cup of juice will give a jelly of the right consistency. Boil rapidly until the jelly test is obtained (two drops which flow together and sheet from the spoon). Pour into clean, hot glasses. When cool and set, cover with hot paraffin.

Jelly is served as a spread for bread or hot biscuits; as a garnish or relish with meat; for jelly cake or jelly tarts.

Here are recipes for gift cookies and jelly muffins:

Jelly Cookies

1 cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 3½ cups flour, 2 cups Corn Flakes, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup water, Jelly.

Cream the butter, add the sugar, and beat thoroughly. Add the flour, which has been sifted with the baking powder and salt, then the water, and last the Corn Flakes. Roll the cooky dough thin, and cut into rounds. Spread one round with jelly and put a second layer on top, pressing the edges together. Bake in a moderate oven (370 deg. F) for ten to twelve minutes.

Jelly Corn-Meal Muffins

1 cup corn-meal, 1 cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons shortening, Jelly.

Mix and sift the corn-meal, flour, salt and baking powder. Add the milk gradually, then the well-beaten egg, and melted fat. Fill greased muffin tins one-fourth full, put a teaspoon of jelly on the top of the batter in each cup, cover the jelly with more batter and bake in a hot oven (400 deg. F).

A KEY THAT OPENS MANY DOORS

The classified advertisement when published in the newspaper not infrequently shows a "pulling power" astonishing even to those familiar with what can be accomplished through this agency. Though occupying little space and inconspicuous both as to position and size of the type used, every want ad in the daily newspaper is read by hundreds of persons. And in that number there will almost certainly be some who are interested in the advertiser's announcement, no matter what it may be.

It is not surprising, therefore, to find the classified columns being put to strange uses. One of the most novel is revealed in the report that an eminent psychologist, desirous of making a sociological study of women occupying high school and financial positions, used wants ads in American and British papers as a means of getting into touch with such persons.

This suggests that more extensive use might be made of the classified advertising columns as an adjunct to science. Information is desired and there are people who can furnish it. It is practically certain that a want ad will reach them. If you are destined to buy something, sell something, to obtain [illegible] to obtain help, to rent [illegible] to discover the [illegible] the classified advertisement is likely to bring it within reach if anything can do it.

"George," murmured the young wife, "am I as dear to you now as I was before we were married?" "I can't exactly tell," said the husband, absent-mindedly. "I didn't keep any account of my expenses then."

Save The Forests! Everyone Loses If They Burn!

1—Forests provide the raw material for one of Canada's greatest industries. 2—A beautiful stand of stately red cedars in B. C. 3—Fire fighting equipment, 7000 gallons of water and a half a mile of hose, on C. P. R. cars.

Indifference, ignorance and carelessness, are the malevolent forces which result in forest fires and only a thorough education of the public to the great need of forest preservation can eradicate these evils. Until the general public understands the full significance of the loss occasioned through forest fires unnecessary destruction of thousands of acres of fine timber will continue. The menace to the financial health of Canada through forest fires has not been fully appreciated by the vast majority of the people. And Canadians especially should be vitally concerned in the welfare of their forests.

The various phases of the lumber industry in Canada represent an invested capital of approximately five hundred million dollars. The associated industries give employment to thousands of men the year through. Further, out of every five dollars the lumber industries pay back to the country more than four dollars for the wood, the labor and the taxes involved in the enterprises.

In the province of Ontario alone, about 20,000 men are employed in the bush while 10,000 are employed in pulp and paper mills. The capital invested in these industries in Ontario is estimated at about $175,000,000. The organizations employed by the Ontario provincial government for forest fire protection cost $3,000 a day. Yet with all this forest fires consume twelve times the amount of lumber which is the life of these huge Canadian industries. In the province of Quebec the value of the lumber cut, including pulpwood, exceeds $40,000,000 annually.

In co-operation with the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, the Montreal Publicity Association has given generous leadership in drawing public attention to the meaning of Forest Conservation Week, which is held annually in the United States and Canada from April 19 to 25. Scores of public bodies all over North America have joined in the effort to stimulate public interest in the forests and means for their preservation.

When a forest burns everybody loses. The destruction of a wooded area means just so much less of a natural heritage for the generations to come. During Forest week the object is to impress this important fact on the public.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has been doing all in its power to prevent fires by maintaining fire fighting apparatus of the most up-to-date pattern. In order to eliminate the possibility of fires being started by passing trains, locomotives on the Canadian Pacific Railway lines are examined at the end of each trip and great care is taken to see that ash pans and front ends are in perfect condition. Each spring the right of way is cleared with care of all scrap and inflammable material.

Notices dealing with fire prevention and protection, issued by the C.P.R., the dominion and provincial governments and by various fire prevention organizations are posted in all stations and other buildings where they will be effective.

The mechanical equipment maintained by the Company for fire fighting consists of a number of tank car units and hose, kept ready for immediate operation at convenient points. Each unit consists of two tank cars each of 7,000 gallon capacity, equipped with powerful pumps and about one mile of hose.

The fire-fighting forces maintained by the Canadian Pacific Railway co-operate to the fullest extent with the provincial forces and the other fire-prevention organizations, and do everything possible to assist in the fighting of fires which are at all adjacent to their territories.

A SUMMER SUNDAY

Your recent editorial brought to me very vividly the Sabbath of my childhood.

The two-mile walk to church (father would not put a horse in the shafts on Sunday until the summer's work was over), the old white-steepled meeting house, the hymns, "Duke Street, Pisgeh"; the drowsy sermon time, with no sounds to break the parson's voice save the twitter of birds ,the hum of bees and the occasional stamp of a horse's hoof in the tie-up shed. The churchyard after service; the neighborly greetings, the news of the week; tall, lean, brown American farmers; their wives, active, capable, shepherding the children into surreys and carry-alls; the shy pairing off of strapping young farmer boys and rosy girls in ruffled white.

The walk home; the grassy path beside the dirt road under the ranked elms; the pauses to admire a lately colt, kicking up his heels in a meadow; a promising field of corn, an oriole's nest swinging high.

The quick clap-clap announcing the approach of young Jim Brewster with his new horse and buggy; the respectful slowing up as he passes, his deeply tanned face beaming with pride of the pretty girl at his side and the spanking young mare in the shafts. Mother saying kindly she is right glad Jim has taken up with Mary Ellen, a good girl and a right smart one, though kin to those shiftless neighbors. Mary Ellen will have a good husband, and she deserves one.

Our own fields and meadows in sight. Dan and Ben under the willows by the creek raise their heads at the sound of fathers' voice. There was a good deal of affection between father and his fine team. Father was proud of his horses and took good care of them. They worked hard, as we all did, but not too hard, and they enjoyed their day of rest in pasture.

Suddenly the peace and quiet of the Sabbath is broken by loud and joyful barks as old Rover, having discovered our approach, rushes to meet us with as much enthusiasm as if we had been parted for weeks instead of hours, and presently appears old Tom, dean of the barn cats to march alongside of mother. He is her special pet and never fails to lay at her feet his trophies of the chase. (He has been known to appear at the kitchen door proudly bearing a blacksnake).

Precious memories, for those days will not be known again. The quiet roadside is invaded by "gas" stations and "hot dog" stands, the song of bird and purl of brooks are drowned by the honk of motors, and that heavenly scent made up of new mown hay, wild strawberries, wayside honeysuckle and wild roses has been overcome by the reek of tar and gasoline. Civilization advances.

A Sour Stomach

In the same time it takes a dose of soda to bring a little temporary relief of gas and sour stomach, Phillips Milk of Magnesia has acidity completely checked, and the digestive organs all tranquilized. Once you have tried this form of relief you will cease to worry about your diet and experience a new freedom in eating.

This pleasant preparation is just as good for children, too. Use it whenever coated tongue or fetid breath signals need of a sweetener. Physicians will tell you that every spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Get the genuine, the name Phillips is important. Imitations do not act the same!

PHILLIPS Milk of Magnesia

I hate to be a kicker, I always long for peace,
But the wheel that does the squeaking is the one that gets the grease.
It's nice to be a peaceful soul and not hard to please,
But the dog that's always scratching is the one that has the fleas.
"I hate to be a kicker" means nothing in a show,
For the kickers in the chorus are the ones that get the dough.
The art of soft soap spreading is a thing that palls and stales.
But the guy that wields the hammer is the guy who drives the nails.
Let us not put any notions that are harmful in your head,
But the baby that keeps yelling is the baby that gets fed!

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN—IT'S YOU

If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you'd like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new.
You knock yourself when you knock your town,
It isn't your town—it's you.
Real towns are not made by men afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead.
If everybody works and nobody shirks
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if while you make your personal stake
Your neighbor can make one, too,
Your town will be what you want to see.
It isn't your town—it's you.

The problem of "educating" the type of driver who runs into the side of a train or parks on a crossing is very difficult. Warning signs and even physical barriers are no sure guarantee against accidents due to this kind of carelessness. Perhaps the remedy is the licensing of drivers and the refusal of permits to those who are judged mentally incompetent. A Detroit psychiatrist lately examined 100 traffic law violators, and found that one was insane, while 13 were feeble-minded and 42 were of inferior intelligence. These are the people who stop their cars on railway tracks and travel with defective brakes. Perhaps they should be prohibited from driving.

RATEPAYERS TO VOTE ON NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

A meeting of the ratepayers of the Millet School District was held in the Community hall on Monday evening for the purpose of discussing the question of adequate school accommodation for the immediate future. Estimates were presented for different styles of new school buildings and also for the expenditure for repairs necessary for the present building. There was also much discussion regarding the new site which was purchased some time ago in view of the probable building program.

Mr. A. Schofield and Mr. M. M. O'Brien were present, representing the Department of Education.

Plans and estimates for a new building were submitted by Mr. Jackson, representing the Waterbury Heeling Co., of Edmonton.

There was a good attendance of ratepayers and the questions were pretty thoroughly discussed.

A resolution was passed recommending the School Board to submit the question of building a new brick school to a vote of the ratepayers.

Mr. F. J. Higginson acted as chairman of the meeting.

A SONG

Is anyone sad in the world, I wonder?
Does anyone weep on a day like this
With the sun above, and the green earth under?
Why, what is life but a dream of bliss?

With the sun and the skies, and the birds above me,
Birds that sing as they wheel and fly,
With the winds to follow and say they love me—
Who could be lonely? Oh, no, not I!

Somebody said, in the street this morning,
As I opened my window to let in the light,
That the darkest day of the world was dawning;
But I looked, and the East was a gorgeous sight.

One who claims he knows about it
Tells me the Earth is a vale of sin;
But I and the bees and the birds—we doubt it,
And think it a world worth living in.

Someone says that hearts are fickle,
That love is sorrow, that life is care,
And the reaper Death, with his shining sickle,
Gathers whatever is bright and fair.

I told the thrush, and we laughed together,
Laughed till the woods were all a-ring;
And he said to me, as he plumed each feather,
"Well people must croak, if they cannot sing."

Up he flew, but his song, remaining,
Rang like a bell in my heart all day,
And silenced the voices of weak complaining,
That pipe like insects along the way.

O world of light, and O world of beauty!
Where are there pleasures so sweet as thine?
Yes, life is love, and love is duty;
And what heart sorrows? O no, not mine.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

The city girl boarding in the country spoke to the farmer about the savage way in which the cow regarded her.

"Well," said the farmer, "it must be on account of that red waist you're wearing."

"Dear me!" cried the girl. "Of course I know it's terribly out of style, but I had no idea a country cow would notice it."—Country Gentleman.

Kidney Trouble Backaches Was All Run Down

Mrs. Alex. Serfas, Cupar, Sask., writes:—"Shortly after the birth of my little girl I took very sick and was in bed most of the time.

"I had backaches, headaches, and was all run down, and had trouble with my kidneys.

"I tried all kinds of medicine, but nothing was able to relieve me.

"I was looking through your Almanac and saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, so asked my husband to go to the druggist's and get me a box. After taking them for three days I was entirely free from all the pains."

Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy for the kidneys only and make right for the seat of the trouble.

Price, 50 cents a box at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

Glycerin Mixture Stops Constipation

The simple mixture of glycerin, buckthorn bark, saline, etc. (Adlerika) acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and relieves constipation in TWO hours! Brings out old waste matter you never thought was in your system. Don't waste time with pills or remedies which clean only PART of the bowels, but let Adlerika give stomach and bowels a REAL cleaning and see how good you feel. Northern Drug Co.

NURSES know, and doctors have declared there's nothing quite like Aspirin to relieve all sorts of aches and pains, but be sure it is Aspirin the name Bayer should be on the package, and on every tablet. Bayer is genuine, and the word genuine—in red—is on every box. You can't go wrong if you will just look at the box:

Aspirin is a trade mark registered in Canada

HARDENING OF THE ARTERIES

The arteries are normally elastic. Control of blood pressure is exercised, first of all, by the heart, or pump, through the force and frequency of its beat; and, secondly, by the arteries, through their expansion of contraction, which abilities they possess as a result of their elasticity. Some of the arteries are very large, such as those in the abdomen, and if they relax, they are capable of holding all the blood in the body. Sometimes they do this, with the result that the person faints because all the blood is drained away from the brain.

As we get older, the elasticity of the arteries is gradually lost. It is said, with much truth, that a man is as old as his arteries. When the loss of elasticity is rapid, premature old age results. Along with the loss of elasticity, there is a thickening and hardening of the walls of the arteries. They become more or less brittle, and break comparatively easily; the calibre becomes smaller, on account of the thickening, and this tends to raise the blood pressure. The result is a thickened and weakened artery with a blood pressure above normal.

We do not know how hardening of the arteries can be completely controlled. We do know, however, what, in many cases, will check the development of the condition. We know that the absorption of poisons from diseased teeth, tonsils or other parts of the body must be stopped. We know that overstrain, both physical and mental, must be avoided. We know that the condition of all systems of the body must be watched and remedied when necessary, because if one part of the body is diseased or is not functioning properly, a strain is thrown thereby upon all the other parts, including the arteries and other parts of the arterial system.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered by letter.

THE PIGEON LAKE BIBLE CAMP

The five days of Bible Camp held at Pigeon Lake last week proved signally successful in every way. A splendid group of young people, almost all of them of Scandinavian descent ,took advantage of the recreation, fellowship and Bible study afforded in this way. On the opening day over 50 guests had registered, and by the closing day possibly 100 young people were in attendance, besides a great many more visitors who had motored in for the closing services.

A varied and interesting program had been arranged by the committee in charge, and there was not a dull moment at any time for even the youngest of them.

Promptly at 7:30 a.m. the guests were assembled for morning devotions out in the open. Breakfast was served at 8:15. The first session of Bible study came at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Quarnstrom. This session was followed by either a debate on some vital topic such as "Should Y. P. Societies admit any others but Christians as Members?" or a round table discussions. Lunch was served at 12:30, and the afternoon was given over to recreation as a rule.

At 5 o'clock the group assembled again for a round table discussion and considerable interest attached to the sessions, inasmuch as each one was given a chance of expressing his opinions on the subject under consideration. The following three topics were dealt with: "What should be the Christian's attitude towards amusements?" "Is Baptism essential to the highest spiritual attainment?" and "What does the death of Christ mean to me?"

Supper was served at 6, and at 7:30 p.m. the group assembled for prayer preceding the 8 o'clock evening service. Sunday's services were specially well attended, and the large tent was filled to capacity. The speakers on Sunday were, Rev. Quarnstrom, Mr. Hjalmer Peterson, Miss Eliz. Bjorkgren, Rev. E. B. Anderson and Rev. Wickstrom.

At the closing service, over a score of young people voiced their appreciation of what the Bible Camp had meant to them in spiritual inspiration. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. J. S. Peterson, the director, and his committee for making this Bible Camp possible.

The Stevenson Sisters also added much to each session by their beautiful singing and helpful messages.

It was the unanimous desire of the young people that arrangements be made for another Bible Camp next year and that Prof. T. W. Anderson of Minneapolis be called as the special speaker.

HILLSIDE

Miss Barbara Marr was successful in passing her Grade XII. examinations. Congratulations, Barbara.

Millet, has been engaged as teacher Milelt ,has been engaged as teacher for the Hillside school.

Miss Beth Howes has returned from Gull Lake, where she spent a pleasant holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Young and family left on Monday for a two weeks trip to Waterton Lakes and Banff.

The picnic held at the school grounds last Friday was well attended. All lines of sports were carried out and a number of prizes were carried off by the district. Hillside won from a picked team from Millet in basketball and tug-of-war. The dance in the evening was enjoyed by old and young.

The U.F.W.A. are meeting at the home of Mrs. T. H. Howes on Thursday. The Millet U.F.W.A. will be guests and Mrs. Price will address the meeting. All ladies are welcome.

The Junior U.F.A. are invited to Lone Ridge on the evening of August 6th, when a junior local will be organized, with a social hour following.

A number journeyed to the Lake on Sunday and enjoyed a dip.

VERDUN

Miss Dorothy Widen returned home Monday from Edmonton, where she spent a few days with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sears have returned to their home after renewing acquaintances at Medicine Hat and other places in southern Alberta.

The crops of this district are badly in need of rain. Many of the farmers here estimate that their crop cannot now go higher than fifty per cent of a normal year.

Several stockmen of this vicinity competed at the Camrose fair last week. Dave Widen was awarded first for 1929 foal ,second for two year old, and third for brood mare in the heavy draft horse class. Dr. Dudgeon won first with his Clydesdale stallion, which animal was also given the championship of the fair. The doctor was also given third with his heavy draft team.

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. E. Humbke on Saturday afternoon, in honor of her daughter, Miss Martha Humbke, whose marriage takes place in the early part of August. A large number of neighbors and friends were present and the bride-to-be received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Mrs. S. Pehrson, who has been visiting friends and relatives here, returned to her home in Lloydminster, Sask., on Monday.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. D. Widen has been ill, but we hope she will be in the best of health soon.

The Misses Marvalin Vanouck and Vestie Pehrson attended the Camrose Fair on Friday.

Miss Elsie Humbke and Mr. Ernest Humbke, who have been on a motor trip up in the Peace River country, returned to their home here on Saturday. They reported having had a good time even though they had to "rough it" many times.

Mrs. Kreselback and daughter, Marie, of Spokane, Wash., Mrs. Kienast and Mr. J. Kienast, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Pehrson on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ellefson returned home this week after a brief visit in the northern part of Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardison and family of Illinois, have been visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Clausen the past week. Mrs. Hardison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clausen, and this is her first visit home in thirteen years.

A number of the young folks went to the river on Sunday and enjoyed a swim. That's one way to keep cool!
